At a meeting of the Union members of the Legislature, in the House of Representatives, on Monday evening, February 16th, 1863, on motion, Hon. Joseph R. Underwood was called to the Chair, and John B. Bruner, ap-

After a free and full consultation, it is recommended to the Union Democracy of Kentneky, that they assemble la Convention. through their delegates, in the city of Louisville, on the 18th day of March uext, and nominate suitable persons as candidates to fill the various State offices, to be chosen at the next August election. It is further rec ommended that the people meet, at some convenient time and place, in their respective counties, and appoint delegates to represent them in the Convention

J. R. UNDERWOOD, Chairman. JOHN B. BRUNER, Secretary.

The late Congress surrendered to the Executive all the power of the Government, legislative, executive and indicial. By the ludemnity bill, the President and his officers are relieved from all responsibility in the past for any trespasses upon personal liberty, and has all power conferred upon him to arrest for still they come." onable practices hereafter, he being judge what treasonable practices are. Courts cau' interfere, for the writ of habeas corpus he is anthorized to suspend at his discretion.

By the confiscation bill, he has at his mercy all the property of rebeis in all the States, is cluding slaves.

By the conscript bill, he has at his command every citizen of the United States between twenty and forty-five years of age, unless he is able to pay three hundred dollars. He can order them all in the army to carry out his own purposes, and hold them to service three

By the appropriation and permanent policy established by Congress, he has command of all the money and credit of the United States. By expanding and contracting the currency, he can enhance or depreciate the price of property at his discretion. There is not a despot on earth with such ab sointe unlimited power. The world will be confounded at a system grown out of what was enpposed to be the most strict and most welldefended constitutional Government. The shades of our fathers, if they could re visit earth, would look with astonishment at the spectacle. They made a Government with delegated powers, to be confined to grants of power carefully worded, expressly reserv ing all the rest to the States and people. The legislative department has voluntarily surrendered up its power. The judiciary are It is all a dreary despotism, and any remonstrance may be set down as a disloyal practice. We look South and that portion of the Union is still worse off. The same story is repeatedthe supremacy of the military; laws and customs, cherished principles of freedom, aban doned to one man at Richmond. All this comes of drawing the sword for rights on one side, and to preserve the Union and the Constitution on the other.

Is It not time for the people South, as well North, to pause and take their bearings? Are these the rights the people South want to preserve? Is this the independence they crave? Have they any security that they will ever get back the constitutional freedom they have Such are the fruits of war. When men in : free government resort to the sword to remedy evils, real or imaginary, to this end they come. The first fire upon Fort Sumpter was the death-knell of constitutional liberty for a time, perhaps for ever.

It is not worth while to discuss the constitutionality of these acts of Congress at Washington. If our Constitution admits of all this it is not what we have taken it to be. It is not what our fathers intended it to be. It is, in fact, not the Constitution of the United States, according to the understanding of all preced lug generations of statesmen whose memorles are dear to this country.

We protest against all these acts as no acts the destruction of our institutions to save them. It is a process suicidal and fatal. The Government will never be saved by such means. They will be execrated by man and accursed of God.

The Polish Revolution.

The land of Ponjatowski and Kosciusko is again, the battle-ground of Freedom. After long years of toil and persecution, the dannt less hearts of Poland, sword in hand, have thrown the ganntlet down, and, nnaided, are grappling with the rod of Russian tyranny. The inspiring memories that consecrate the fields of Prague and Warsaw are written in fisme on every Polish heart, and the great spirits who, in an earlier struggle, were claughtered in vain but glorlons strife, having risen from their ashes, are alive again in their petriot sons, and now, after an hundred years of enslavement, grasping the old flag of Saimatia, they have resolved to efface their shame in blood, or by heroic deeds immortalize another field of death. How sublime the spectacle! Four millions of brave men, loyers of freedom, dare to confront, even in the eye of Fate, the mightiest tyrant on the glob; at whose bidding sixty millions of seris, in all the equipments of war, would greedily rush to destroy them ! A century has well uigh elapsed since the partition and enslavement of Poisnd, in 1772, and through all her annals we trace the bleeding marks of oppression; yet her humble homea have been rich in heroes, who, though vainly etruggling for their native land, have reaped a an indorsement of the Administration. Democratic Victories. The spring elections in New York have everywhere resulted in victories for the Democracy. In most cities and towns the coutest was made not upon local or mnnicipal, nt on national issues, the Radicals on one slde supporting the policy of military abolition, and the Conservatives on the other standing for the maintenance of the Union upon the letter and spirit of the Constitution. The result is another victory for the Union cause.

Military abolitionism may as well, first as last, be set down as "played out." The conservative sentiment of the country, which has managed the government of this country successfully, peacefully and prosperously for twothirds of a century, proposes to have something to do with its management in future, and also as a desirable pre-requisite to see that it shall have a future.

CONFEDERATE COTTON LOAN .- The Londo Times goes further Into a Confederate loan, and says that the contract, for it had reached Parls, having been ratified by the Confederate llonse of Representatives, while the ratification of the Senate was expected by the next mail. The ioan is for three millions sterling, at seven per cent., exchangeable for cotton at any time within six months after the declaration of peace. Cotton is also to be delivered, during the war, in the interior, and after peace has been proclaimed, at any port, at the rate of six pence for New Orleans Middling. The oonds of the Confederate States, not converted into cotton, are redeemable at par during twenty years by haif yearly drawings, at the price at which the bonds are not transferred. The Loudon Morning Herald says that the above reports are rather premature

THE ALABAMA MATCHED AT LAST .- The ment for $120,000. She is a prize to the Mercedits. It was on board this craft that the dress says: famous Oreto's battery was seized, and the splendid 100-pound gun made for the Great Exhibition in London, but subsequently bought by the Confederates. The Bermuda can steam fifteen mlles an hour, and would easily have got away from the Mercedita bad she discovered her. She will soon be converted luto an efficient man-of-war and sent after the Alabama. The owner of the cargo and his sons were on board when she was captured.

THE REPUBLIC OF LIBERIA.-The annual message of President Benson, of Liberia, represents the black republic to be flourishing. The people are paying increased attention to is likely to increase. Within the last twelve months angar-mills have been imported. Iron and coal deposits exist, which, it is hoped, will soon be turned to account. A conviction is expressed that the war in the United States berians to set such an example of industry as shall render the republic lucreasingly beneficial as a place of refuge.

The New York Post favors the transfer of the trade between New York and Californis, now carried on in American vessels, to of our Government. We do not believe in ships owned in England and sailing under the British flug. Secretary Chase thinks that vessels making the voyage between New York and Aspinwall, and from Panama to San Francisco, are not engaged in the coasting trade, from which it would follow that foreign vesscis are permitted under our na vigation laws to be employed in this way. Thus our shipowners are likely to have the cheap craft from Europe as rivais in trade on their own coast, and this at the instance of their own Government's new construction of a law passed for the protection of American tunnage!

General Rosecrans, it appears, has reenemies of the Union. He is determined to gratify their hatred toward the "Yankees" by ment ever since to over 150 hands. putting them beyond the rebel lines, where, perhaps, they can render their friends more effective service under the Jeff Davis conscription.

It seems to be getting quite fishionable in the world to inaugurate rebeilion against the enforcement of law. The Mormons are trying their hand at the business, as may be acen from a telegraphic dispatch in our colnmns. Brigham Young has been ordered under arrest, and a collision between the military and the citizens of Utah is thought imminent. They will be suppressed.

John Van Buren made a speech lately in New York. It was a war speech, but not noticed the enormous powers granted to the weak in the apology. John was evidently embarrassed, and was not himself, as usual.

On Friday evening last an Immense war has meeting was held at Cooper's Institute, all favoring a vigorous prosecution of the war. Wm. Culien Bryant, the distinguished poet and editor of the Evening Post, presided.

SKETCH OF THE NASHVILLE. The Nashville is one of the historic vessels of the rebellion. It was one of the first selzed by the rebels in Charlesson, in 1861, and was sent to sea under the rebel flag. She has on more than one occasion alone given our blockading fleet a great deal of trouble. It will be remembered that she ran the blockado off Beanlort, North Carollus, early last year, and after being lo the harbor torsometime, and and after being in the harbor for sometime, and supposed to be secure, einded what was get med to be a strict watch and again escaped to sea. She has several times run between Bermnda She has several times run between Bermnda and Charleston with a contraband cargo; but the last time she entered one of the Southern ports she was so completely hemmed in that she could not escape. It was reported last October that she was fitting out with heavy armament for the purpose of joining the privateer vessels now engaged in the rebel cause and committing their ravages npon the open seas. To prevent this a close watch has been kept on her movements by Admiral Dupont's squadron, which vigilished has been finally rewarded by her complete destruction.

The Nashville was a side wheel steamer of eighteen hundred tuns hurden, and was hullit at New York in 1854. She helonged to Messrs. Spofford, Tileston & Company's Charleston line, and was one of the fastest ships running from New York. The usual passage to Charleston is two and a half days, but the Nashville usually ran down in fifty-five hours, and has made the trip in forty six and a haif hours. She made her last trip from that port of Charleston just before the bombardment of Sumpter. Her Captain at that time (Murray) was a South Carolina man, and sailed from here with orders not to go into Charleston if was a South Carolina man, and sailed from here with orders not to go into Charleston if there was any dancer. He arrived off the bar April 12, while the bombardment was in progress, and lay off and on until the capitulation of Sumpter, when the ship ran in and was at once selzed by the rebel authorities at Charleston. It will be remembered that they had just before seized and released the Marlon, of the

She was considered so good a sea-going vessel that the Collins Company twice chartered her to put her on in place of one of their Liverpool ships, and she made the trip across each time inside of twelve days.

A NEW KEY TO OUR TROUBLES-MR. LIN-COLN A SPIRITUALIST.-The following paragraph is from the Baltimore Republican:

"It is said upon unquestionable anthority that Mr. Lincoln is a convert to the doctrine of spiritual rappings, manifestations, and rapport theories. The Slege of Vicksburg.

The capture of Vicksburg, and the conse-Wreck-Gens. Pryor and Pierce-'The quent reppening of the Missisalppi river, is justly regarded as the most important object now immediately in view on the theater of War in Utah---Brigham Young is war, for it will involve, to a great extent, the practical suppression of the rebellion. A coemporary says there are three distinct projects for compassing the defeat of the rebel army at Vickshurg:

First, there is the canal across the isthmus opposite the city, which is expected to change the channel of the Mississippi, leaving the city several miles inland, and enabling our fleet to pass below the stronghold, and operate against it from a quarter least able to resistattack.

pass below the stronghold, and operate against it from a quarter least able to resist attack.

Secondly, there is the project at Yagos Pass, above Vicksburg, on the cast side of the Mississippi. This pass is already reported to be successful. Its object is to pass boats into the Yagos river, so as to attack the rebel fortifications at Halnes' Bluff, a few miles above the mouth of the Yagoo, both in front by the gunboats and in the rear by land forces. The works at this point are the principal defenses of Vicksburg against inland assault; and it is confidently believed that they must fail hefore a combined assault. A ficet, laden with troops, was reported several days ago to have sailed on this destination; and it is by no means improbable that we shall hear, very soon, of an engagement, and possibly of the reduction of that important point.

The third enterprise now in process of development is the Lake Providence Canal, This lake is on the west side of the Mississippl, sixty miles above Vicksburg, the hed of the lake being twelve feet below the channel of the river. A canal four hundred feet in length, which Memphis dispatches of the 3d annonuce to be finished, connects the two waters. The importance of this communication consists in the fact that Lake Providence gampies into the Tenras river, which, running south sixty miles west of Vicksburg, in turn empties into the Washita river, and the latter late Refriver, forty miles above the mouth of the latter. The Tensas river is navigable for mplies luto the Washita river, and the latter nto Red river, forey miles above the mouth of

Into Red river, forty miles above the mouth of the latter. The Tensas river is navigable for more than one hundred and fitty miles; vessels can, therefore, pass from Lake Providence to Red river, desiroying all the Red river and Lonislana connections of the rebels, and cutting off entirely the supplies upon which they absointely depend for subsistence. But a still greater advantage than these we have named will accrue from the success of this Lake Providence enterprise, It will insure, by means of Atchafaisya bayon, which will be accessible to our fleet, a junction of the forces of Generals Grant and Banks, and thus not only compet the reduction of Port the forces of Generals Grant and Banks, and thus not ouly compet the reduction of Port Hadson, which in this way can be readily flanked, but expose to our occupancy the entire range of plantation lands lying hetween the strongholds of Vicksburg and Hadson.

If, as reported, this Lake Providence cansi is actually completed, and there is no reason to doubt the reductive many record the reducto doubt the report, we may regard the reduclon of Vicksburg as already practically accom-plished; and if this stronghold falls, the spine of the rebellion in the Mississippi Valley will be hopeicesly broken.

THE DEMOCRACY OF THE NORTHWEST .-We credit the following to the Detroit Free ress, of the let inst., the De of Michigan:

Have the Democracy of the Northwest the enemy posted at Spring Hill. If they hanged their position on the war? This question is frequently asked, and we answer, they born's disaster at Thompson's Station is to be have not changed. We are, to use the strong and pertinent language of the Illinois resolunence with the Gnii, summer of commerce last great and united people." This declaration, a various forms and under various circumstances, has been retirerated and contirmed by the Democracy of the Northwest. It is their relationment their creed.

Trouble is apprehended ou the Kentneky border. The malcoutents over the river, in Covington and Newport and the adjacent covington and Newport and the adjacent country, are believed to be in communication with llumphrey Marshall's vagabonds. Their plan is to rise in arms, while he makes a raid on the Kentucky Central Railroad, selze the fortifications, spike the guns, and hold them till he comes up. A rendezvous is appointed, fifteen miles from Newport, for Saturday next, and they are busy prograting arms and provise. and they are busy procuring arms and provis I have this from a source entitled to the net nest credit. [Correspondence of the Chicago Times.] MEMPHIS. Feb. 28. A report has just reached this city by the teamer Tigress, and also by way of the Con-derate lines, that the gunboat Indianola, captured by the rebels, is being used in shelling the negroes out of the canal which is being dug at Vicksburg.

Our authorities do not seem to be very well posted at present as to the movements and designs of the enemy. I doubt whether there are at present 20,000 soldiers in Vicksburg. They are concentrating their entire force in front ol Rosecrans, with a view of giving him an early engagement; falling back gradually until they shall gwin sufficient strength to lasure a victory in their opinion. Should they be successful, they will push rapidly north on Louisville and Cincinnati. It is to be hoped that our able head of affairs has foresight

WOOL-Growing .- Within the last thirty rears Illinois has become a great wool-growing State, notwithstanding the prediction of the knowing ones that sheep would not do well on the flat prairie land. > The Attack on Charleston. A letter from Port Royal harbor, la the Balimore American, says:

The first intelligence received at the North from the anticipated demonstration on Charles-on, will doubtless come to you by way of Richmond. In crediting these statements, whatever they may be, it must be borne in mind that Beauregard is in command. There will probably be iron-clad reconnol-sances in the lower harbor for two or three days prior to the lower haroor for two or three days prior to the main attack. After accomplishing their purpose for the day, it may so happen that they will fall back to their anchorage for the night. Beauregard will forthwith telegraph to night. Beauregard will forthwith telegraph to Richmond, in high-sounding bombast, accounts of smashed turrets, disabled vessels, a severe repulse, and perhaps the sinking of one or two of the "Yankee cheese-boxea," You must be prepared for all this characteristic "Beauregardina," and place just as much credit in what may reach you from that source as the dirumstances may warrant.

credit in what may reach you from that source as the circumstances may warrant.

That the humbling of Charleston, the taking of Sumpter and Moultrie, the restoration of the old flag, are undertakings of magnificent importance, and of doubtful results, there can be no dispute. We may find the work one of such magnitude as to be compelled to abandon it, but that there will be any serious disaster attending the iron-clad demonstration is not to be apticipated. The operations of the Montauk at Fort McAllister, and the manner is which she received sixty shots full in the Montauk at Fort McAllister, and the man-ner ia which she received sixty shots full in the face from the most powerful guns in the possession of the rebels, has settled the point as to their invulacrability. They may not be able to pass the obstructions; they may be compelled to abandon the attempt to reduce Sumpter and Moultrie; but that any of them will be compreted and to reduce the state of the st will be captured, sunk, or disabled by the en emy's guns or gunboats is not at all to he an-

At the last accounts from Charleston the number of gans in position to check our advance on the city was estimated at one hundred and sixty. More have since doubtless been mounted, and we may calculate on at been mounted, and we may calculate on at least two hundred by the time the astack is made. Of these probably fifty command the approaches to Fort Sampter, and when that point is reached the fleet will probably re-celvethe concentrated the of Moultrie, Samp-ter and Cummings' Polut, where the ismona-railroad battery is stationed. They will doubtless, however, be able to place them-selves in such positions, between Sampterselves in such positions between Sumpter and Moultrie as that their miss-shots will strike where they are not intended. The bat atrike where they are not intended. The bat-tery at Cumming. Point will be a mile distant, too far altogether even to dent the armor of an ron clad.

The mode of attack concluded upon by Admiral Dupont is of course altogether nuknown. He may have determined to reduce the bat-ieries on the islands at the entrance to the heries on the islands at the entrince to the harbor, and then dash past Fort Sumpter and demand the surrender of the city, receiving their combined shot and shell without response; or he may determine to first make the effort to reduce and retake Sumpter as a base of future operations on the city. The obstructions in the harbor are under-tood to be between Sumpter and the city; indeed, it would be impossible to place any obstructions below Sumpter, as the fate of our fleet of sunken whalers have already proved. Thus when Sumpter is passed, the city will be at the mercy of our flitcer-inch shells, and must POLAND AND THE SOUTH .- The Philadelphia the mercy of our filteer-inch shells, and muss either surrender or submit to destruction. The passing of Sumpter will, however, put the Monitors to a full test of their powers of resistance. If able to move on despite the showers of shot and shell that may be poured upon them, or to hold their ground nuril they have silenced the enemy's guns at this point, the city will of course be at their mercy.

It is, however, useless to speculate on a matter that will soon pass to the page of history as a triumph or falture. Suffice to say there is much confidence of success on the part of our gallant navy, and the rebels are doubtless equally confident of their sbiffity to resist us. When we reflect, however, that "wooden walls" compelled the forts, rams, butteries and obstructions to yield to their power at New Orleans, there is room for hope, it not confidence, that Charleston will fall before the bravery and puriotic devotion of the navy and the fron genus of Erics on.

March 9th, 1863. Col. R. T. Jacob: In behalf of the field, stair, and line officers, of your regiment, allow us to ask your acceptance of this sword as a slight testimonial of the high esteem we have for you as a gallant officer, a true gentleman, and friend of the soldier, being satisfied that we could not bestow the gift on one more worthy and that you will not permit it. more worthy, and that you will not permit it to become tarnished by rust while the weal of your country demands it, as evidenced by your gallantry at Clayvillage and in other en gagements with the coemy while invading our State, but particularly in the field at Law renceburg, where you received those scars you

We are, Colonel, Very respectfully, Your obedient servants, George W. Rus, Major; WM. BAILEY, Surgeon; J. H. BARNES, Captalu; FRANK H. POPE, Lleut, and Adj't.

Pope, Licutenant and Adjutant: GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMITTEE: Permit me trough you to express to the field, staff, and ne officers of my regiment, my thanks for the beantiful sword they have so delicately and unexpectedly presented to me. It is, in-deed, a great compliment to be styled a "gal lant officer, a true gentleman and triend of the soldier," by those who have been so inti-inately associated with me by the camp-fire, in the hospital by the side of the sick soldier, in the hospital by the side of the sick soldier, and on the battle-field, where the deadly struggle has taken place for the honor of the flag, and the preservation of the unity of the country, and the perpetuity of freedom. I will piedge you, gentlemen, that no "rust" shall tarnish the bis to of my beantiful present as long as the "cause of my country demands it." With the battle-cry of our flag, one country, and the Constitution bequeathed to us by our fathers, we will be invincible. No man can wish for peace, no one can love his countrymen of all sectious, more than I do; W. Baggott, G. A. Hull, E. A. Buckner, M. After which the meeting We learn that the citizens living in the iciuity of Seventh and Walnut streets were countrymen of all sections, more than I do; but there can be no peace as long as an armed traitor remains. Before that halveon day of peace can come, there must be an uncondigreatly annoyed, about 12 o'clock Mouday peace can come, there must be an unconditional submission to the laws, the flig and the Constitution. We must not sheathe the sword, my beloved companions in arms, until our beloved Kentucky nestles and sleeps within the bosom of a great, united and peace ful nation. Until that day comes, as most assuredly under a Divice Providence to will, there will be no peace for our beloved native State—torn distracted and desolated, she will be but the pathway of contending armies. What is much to other States is life to Kentucky. Her very existence depends upon the Union of the States. The lives of her citizens, and the safety and preservation of their property, demands of her true sons no compromise until there is unconditional submission to the laws of the land, and the preservation of the unity of the country is secured. drunk and making night hideous with yells and shouts, shooting pistols, &c. Senator Harris on the Conscription

Law. Senator Harris, of New York, made the following remarks on the Conscription Law, while it was under discussion :

while It was under discussion:

In this country, even in our utmost need, and Eugland with her many wars and often scarcity of men, never resorted to this despotic measure (the conscription bill). It was a mode of raising armies only used by despots, but never by Republican Governments, and the principle, if adopted, would provide large standing armies, which almost inevitably lead to despotism. In a government of delegated power, and which rested upon the consent of the governed, it was inexpedient and unneces any. Congress had not the power under the Constitution thus to destroy the militia of the States, which the Constitution provided for as a reserved force of the Union. If this measure were adopted, there would be centralized power. He would not say that the President would make bad use of this power, but he objected to the principle. It was always dangerous to centralize such immense power under one man, an ambitious man. Might not the fate of France be that of this country? Our forefathers and the capit that the life of the nation was at stake; he believed that the life of the nation was at stake; he believed that the liberties of a Iree people were of more importance than anything, else, and if he were to choose between an Imperial Government, stretching over the whole country and including Mexico and Canada, and two hecitation in choosing the latter.
